- 5.5 The maintenance of discipline is the responsibility of management and falls within the control function of all supervisory position.

- 5.7 Records should be kept for each employee, specifying the nature of any disciplinary transgressions, the actions taken by management, and the reasons for such actions.

6. INCAPACITY / NON-PERFORMANCE COUNSELLING PROCEDURE

6.1 INTRODUCTION

- 6.1.1 The counseling procedure is designed to assist management in handling cases where employees are not performing to the standards of work required of them in terms of their contracts of employment.
- 6.1.2 The purpose of the procedure is to identify the reasons for the non-performance and to provide a structured system of assisting the employee to improve his/her performance to the required standards within a reasonable period of time.

6.2 REASONS FOR INCAPACITY / NON-PERFORMANCE

- 6.2.1 There are two main reasons why an employee may be incapable of doing his job or of performing to the required standards. They are:
- 6.2.1.1. Physical incapability due to ill health or injury; and
 - 6.2.1.2. Incompetence due to lack of skills, training, natural ability or the ability to work with fellow employees.
 - 6.2.1.3. Deliberate action of refusing to perform is excluded.
- 6.2.2. In both cases the counseling procedure should be used to address the reasons for the employee's inability to perform.
- 6.2.3 When it is considered that an employee's performance is not measured up to the standard required, the supervisor concerned shall engage in a process of counseling his physical inability or perceived incompetence.
- 6.2.4 Review of standards: The employee's job content and standards must be reviewed. The reasonableness of those standards must be confirmed and, if possible agreed with the employee.
- 6.2.5 Identify sub-standard performance: The supervisors must identify shortfalls in the performance using the most objective measurement criteria available. These shall be discussed with the employees.
- 6.2.6 Identify reasons for sub-standard performance: Reasons why the employee has fallen below the standards must be discussed and identified.
- 6.2.7 Action plan: If the reason for the non-performance lies with the employee, the supervisor must counsel the employee on how to achieve the standards and agree on an action plan. Agreement must also be sought from the employee that the action plan is acceptable and that he/she is capable of achieving the required standards, if the action plan is complied with. If the action plan is reasonable but the employee does not agree with it, for no good reason, it may nonetheless be implemented.

- 6.2.8 Assistance: Thereafter, the supervisor shall provide all reasonable assistance which may include suitable training of the employee to enable the employee to achieve the required standards. In case of physical incapability, the assistance may include reasonable time off (within the confines of leave) for medical treatment or temporary or permanent transfer to a less onerous job if this is possible.
- 6.2.9 Review dates: The employer or supervisor must give reasonable time to the employee to adjust to performance.
- 6.2.10 Record of counseling: The contents of the counseling and the agreed action plan must be recorded in a written memorandum to the employee in the form of the Counseling Record Form. It must be signed by the Head of Department concerned, as a record to which the parties may refer to at a later stage, if necessary. The memorandum could also provide proof of counseling.
- 6.2.11 Further counseling and warnings: If the employee does not reach the required Standards within the time periods set, the head of department shall engage in further counseling if it is believed that the employee may still be capable of improving given further assistance and time. The Head of Department must also warn the employee on the implications if he/she fails to perform to the required standards by the end of the said period.
- 6.2.12 Termination: If even after further counseling or a warning and a reasonable time period the employee still does not perform to the required standards, or proves to the satisfaction of the Head of Department that he/she is incapable of achieving the standards, the Head of Department in consultation with all relevant parties must recommend to the Municipal Manager that the disciplinary action will be instituted against employee.
